The Straight Course is based on the idea that the golf swing should be a simple, repeatable motion. Dorworth believes that most golfers make their swings too complicated, which leads to inconsistency and poor results.

The Straight Course swing is a one-piece takeaway, with the clubhead and hands moving together in a straight line. The backswing is short and controlled, and the downswing is initiated by rotating the hips and shoulders together. The clubhead strikes the ball from the inside, and the follow-through is smooth and balanced.

The Straight Course swing is a great option for golfers of all skill levels. It is a simple, repeatable motion that can help you improve your accuracy and distance.
